Planning Program Dist. Convention

EAST JORDAN TO BE MECCA OF LEGION AND AUXILIARIES JUNE 11th

The American Legion Auxiliary Unit 227 met in the Legion Home Tuesday evening, May 23. Edna Wilkins installed the officers of the Junior Auxiliary.

Frank Stucker, Chairman for Convention Arrangements, was a guest and gave an outline of the program planned for the Lower 11 District Convention to be held in East Jordan June 11th. Official announcement of the program will be made public after final arrangements are made. This should be a red letter day for East Jordan with a parade including Drum and Bugle Corps and many fine speakers, as well as a good time. All Auxiliary members should plan to attend.

Mary Lou Breakey was appointed chairman for the bingo game to be held on June 8. These bingos are given for the purpose of raising funds to finance completion and furnishing of the kitchen in the Legion home. So far fine progress is being made along these lines.

There will be a special meeting of the Auxiliary May 31, 8:00 p. m., for the purpose of laying out plans for the District Convention. Be sure and attend as there will be a lot of help needed in making this day a credit to our Unit and Post.

Junior Auxiliary Officers Installed

At an impressive installation ceremony the officers of the Junior Auxiliary Unit 227 were installed. The following girls took the oath of office: Rosemary Bowers, President; Marlene Brown, Secretary; Nickey Myers, Treasurer; Terry Myers, Chaplain; Judy Gokee, Sgt. at Arms; Connie Richardson, Color Bearer. Edna Wilkins, Auxiliary President, officiated as installing officer, with Mara Leigh acting Sgt. at Arms. The Auxiliary members are all impressed by the sincereity of this group of girls, under the able leadership of Hilda Bathke, Junior Activities Chairman, and Mara Leigh Clark. They will develop into capable officers and future leaders.

Plans are now being completed for making shoulder banners to be worn by Junior members in the Memoriay Day Parade as well as other fine projects. Meetings are held every other Saturday afternoon which combines business and pleasure.

If your daughter is eligible to join this American Legion group and would like to be a member you may contact Reva Walton, Membership Chairman, and she will see that it will be taken care of.

Rev. Howard Moore delivered an inspiring message commending the annual tradition of honoring those who have made the supreme sacrifice to keep this a free America and he stressed the point that not by the evils of war, but only by the leadership of God and true Christian Brotherhood, can we ever hope to attain the lasting peace that these brave men have fought and died for.

POULTRY MARKETING SHOULD BE PLANNED

When is the best time for a producer to market poultry?

This question comes often to Ed Rebman, county agr'l agent. He cites some information from Henry Larzelere, agricultural economist at Michigan State College, to help answer the problem.

Marketing poultry—chicken in particular—involves two aspects, the economist points out. One is the sale of hens ready for culling and other is the sale of young males. The sale of these males has expanded with development of the broiler industry.

Wise poultrymen will remember that the prices for fowl are usually lower in the last seven months of the year than in the first five, he states. It is advantageous to cull more closely in the spring months. Having early hatched chicks will help keep the flock in a profitable condition.

Michigan broiler producers can help their price situation by keeping production and marketing too closely with heavy producing areas such as Deleware, Maryland, and Georgia. A survey shows the indiction that broilers brought the best prices in early April and again in September.

SOIL TESTING DIRECTORS TO TOUR NORTHERN ORCHARDS

The directors of the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District will attend the tour of the northern orchards, 6 miles from Cheboygan on Thursday, June 15. This tour is a part of the regional meetings of the district directors of all the soil testing in northern Michigan. Some of the highlights of the trip will be spent covering such topics as mulching, cover crops and the effect of humus on soil fertility. Ted Steffans, who is manager of the northern orchards, will be in charge of the program. The tourist and resort service will also discuss how their program fits in the soil conservation program.

The directors who will be attending from the Charlevoix district will be George Klooster, chairman, East Jordan; Norval Korthase, vice-chairman, Boyne City; Peter Winnick, treasurer, Charlevoix; Clayton Healey, East Jordan; and Carlton Smith, Charlevoix. E. B. Watkins, farm planner for the district, and Ed Rebman, Charlevoix county agr'l agent and secretary of the district, will also attend this meeting.

SOIL TESTING PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

Charlevoiv county farmers who are interested in having soil tested for lime requirements, phosphorus and potash needs, will now have their soil tested at the new laboratory set up at Petoskey, according to Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent. This laboratory will handle soil samples from Emmet, Charlevoix, Antrim, Otsego and Cheboygan counties. The reason for one laboratory for five counties is that one county does not have enough soil samples to keep a laboratory operating efficiently while five counties should be able to do so.

All farmers who are now cooperating in the Charlevoix county PMA program can have their soil samples taken by one of their committeemen. Roy Hardy, chairman of the Charlevoix county PMA will be in charge of collecting the soil samples for those farmers who wish to have them do so.

All farmers, however, who wish to do so may take their own samples and bring them to the county agent's office at Boyne City. The charge for testing these soil samples will be 50c per sample and this will include a test for p. H., phosphorous and potash. There will be no more soil testing in the county agent's office at Boyne City once this laboratory is operating. Watch this newspaper for further details in regards to this program.

East Jordan Tourist Park

The Banks Twp. elementary school enjoyed an all day picnic in the park on Wednesday. This is the second school picnic from there this spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Whiteford and son, Gerry, from Flint, spent four days here.

On Sunday afternoon the Lutheran Young People's Meeting was held in the park.

The chickens at the Robinson trailer home are causing much comment and amusement. So far they have caused no trouble.

The Carl DeMerrit family of Gaylord spent the week end at their home on wheels. Bob Keppler, chum of DeMerrit's son, accompanied them. The boys had their own housing quarters, a pup tent.

Monday evening the park was alive with a happy bunch of youngsters when the East Jordan eighth graders, headed by their sponsor, Mrs. A. Drapeau, held their annual picnic. Mr. Michaels and Mr. Downing helped her.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Harrod and deughter set up their tent and enjoyed the week end as guests of the Harold Whitefords.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cooley of Grand apids called at the Robinson home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brown of Haslett, Mich., spent the week end enjoying our park.

Among guests to call at the Meredith home were their son, Russell of Detroit, and his brother-in-law, Elmer Abbey; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew W. Anderson, Lansing (former tenants of the park); Mr. and Mrs. Walter Anderson, Flint; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Anderson, Deer Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Charley Van Horn, Petoskey and Mr. and Mrs. Arlington Anderson, Detroit. A unique note about these guests is that among all these families, several were Andersons, but none were related or had ever met before.

Several families and groups have enjoyed the hospitality of our park. Many strangers from out of town stop, and the shuffleboards seem to furnish much entertainment.

A few brave ones (mostly children) have tested the water at the bathing beach. The new dock has not been erected as yet, but we hope soon.

Legion Band Makes Its' Bow

WAS ONE OF FEATURES OF MEMORIAL DAY PARADE

One of the outstanding features of East Jordan's Memorial Day Parade was the new American Legion Post No. 227, Band.

Those participating were:—

Drum Major —— Jason Snyder.

Cornets — Francis Lilak, Don Shepard, Jack Sommerville, Harry Watson.

Carinets — Harold Bader, Cyril Dolezel.

Saxaphone — Gabriel Thomas, Richard McKinnon.

Trombones — Robert Scott, Bud Shepard.

Baritone — Ralph Shepard, Willard Howe.

Alto — Clifford Dennis.

Bass — Orrin Parks, Mike Hitchcock.

Bass Drum — Bernard Sturgell.

Snare Drum — Carl Kamradt, James Bugai.

The Legion Band was organized in February. The citizens can surely be proud of such an organization.

A colorful section of the parade was the High School graduates, numbering 52 in their gowns of white worn by the girls and blue worn by the boys.

South Arm Farm Bureau

The May meeting of South Arm Community Farm Bureau was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. D. Nelson on the third Tuesday of the month. Tweve aduts and two children were present.

George Klooster, Chairman, called the meeting to order. After the reports were given, Delbert Ingalls read a letter from Stanley Powell, Farm Bureau Legislative Rejresentative, regarding the need for improved facilities at the Michigan State College School of Veterinary Medicine.

The topic for the evening's discussion was, "How Shall Roads Be Financed?" The group reached two definite conclusions during the arguments:

1. Appropriations for road maintenance should not be taken from the state's general fund.

2. An income tax should not be levied on the net profits of corporations to balance impending state deficit.

The businesss meeting was adjourned and the remainder of the evening was spent visiting over the pot luck lunch and coffee served by the hostess.

The June meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Coolman.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

By DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Habakkuk.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 67: 1-7.

Questioning God

Lesson for June 4, 1950

HABAKKUK has been called the prophet who dared to ask God questions. If he had not asked these questions he would not have had his answers, so we ought to be thankful for him. If he had meekly "taken it" without (so to speak) talking back to God, he himself might never have became a prophet and we might have missed the truth which he was enabled to see. If there had been morning papers in those days, Habakkuk would seldom have read anything good in them. As for local news, it was all scandal. Murders, judges dispensing injustice in the courts, good people having a very hard time of it . . . Abroad, things looked dark. The giant nation of Babylonia was on the march westward, and it did not look as if the nation of Judah had what it would take to stop an invasion.

Dr. Foreman

Habakkuk, a deeply sensitive man, could not brush it all off. He could not say, "Oh well, what can you expect?" or "I see the boys are at it again." He could not think of what was going on around him as if it were all a story, a murder-mystery to be enjoyed in an easy chair. He could not say "It is fate" and let it go at that.

He was desperate in his mind about it all. "Under mine eyes outrage and injury go on," he said (1:3, Moffatt's translation). He dared to ask the question, Why? Why does God permit such things?

* * *

God's Terrible Answer

GOD HAD AN ANSWER for Habakkuk, but it did not satisfy him at first; indeed it disturbed him deeply, for the answer looked worse than the original problem. The essence of it was this (Hab. 2:5-11): God had indeed seen the wicked ways of the nation of Judah, and was going to punish the whole country by defeat in war. He was bringing up against them the Babylonians (Chaldeans), an aggressive, fighting, ruthless nation. Sooner or later Babylon and Judah would clash, and then—Smash!

* * *

The Prophet Still Asks Questions

HABAKKUK KNEW very well what the Babylonian armies were like and what they had been doing. But could it be true that God would actually make use of a wicked nation like Babylonia? God was "of purer eyes than to behold evil;" how then could a good God use the cruel violence of godless armies, even for a righteous purpose?

The Babylonians were not God's people—they did not worship him or know him. How could God use his enemies to punish his own people? Does God justify the means by the end? Does God do evil that good may come?

Habakkuk, in short, was troubled by exactly the same kind of questions that have always arisen when men who believe in a righteous God ponder the meaning of the power of evil.

* * *

Faith Comes Through

HABAKKUK never did get a complete, logical answer to his doubts. What he did get was something more valuable. It was a two-fold answer. First, WAIT AND SEE. (2:1-3.) The crushing of Judah by Babylon would not be the last chapter of history. God has yet to settle his account with Babylon, and "God does settle all his accounts in October."

The other part of the answer is: THE JUST SHALL LIVE BY FAITH. The meaning here (2:4) is that there are two kinds of life, two types of character, two sorts of men. One is the man of pride and unfaith, the other is the man of faith. Unfaith kills, faith makes alive. Unfaith trembles and falls, faith endures.

So it is with men and nations. At that time you might have thought, Babylon will survive, Judah has no chance. But in the light of history, we know it was Babylon that perished, Judah that endured. Godlessness may have terrible power, but since it is godlessness, it has no final power against the real God.

So Habakkuk who began by asking questions, came out into glorious faith. The great poem with which his book closes is a bold confession of faith. No longer complaining, he cries out, "The Lord God is my strength!"

More public benefits vs. state socialism.

That's the top issue of 1950 for both national and state political campaigns, according to battle lines now being formed at Lansing and Washington.

The 1950 special session of the Michigan legislature confirmed the trend on a state-wide basis. Governor G. Mennen Williams struck a note of the liberal crusader when he assailed Republican legislators for "ignoring" the needs of the people. The legislature turned down his proposed $112,000,000 program. Instead government spending was cut approximately $15,000,000.

It is the political thesis of Governor Williams that the Republican party in Michigan is dominated by "special interests", referring obviously to manufacturers and businessmen. In an address before the Michigan CIO convention in Grand Rapids, Williams assailed the legislature for its "do-nothing record". Because legitlators refused to levy a stiff tax on corporation profits, Williams concludes that the G. O. P. is subservient to "Big Business" and hence is committed to more consumer taxes.

This stand of the governor—more public benefits to be financed by business—finds an echo in recent utterances of President Harry Truman. The president wound up a whistle-stop speaking tour, promising to continue his fight for middle income housing, federal aid to education, federal health insurance and an improved farm law.

The cost of all these new public benefits would run into many billions of dollars, all at a time when Federal treasury deficits are mounting. The Republican stand, as expressed by Senator Taft or Ohio, is that the Truman program is straight socialism.

Taft says the Republicans are also interested in promoting health, security and housing of the people, but would support financial aid only where absolutely necessary and where it can be done without a strain on the treasury.

While more public benefits become the Democratic offering, national and state, Republicans will condemn the Truman-Williams program as being financially irresponsible, destroying our American freedoms, and otherwise opening the door wide to a "hand-out state".

The governor made a dramatic 11th hour appearance before the Legislature on the eve of its recess Saturday, May 20. He appealed to legislators not to reduce government grants to schools, hospitals, the aged and infirm, and other worthy causes.

The Republican reaction was prompt: "Pure politics".

"It there are dire happenings, it will be because of administrative failures or attempts to make political capital out of discrediting sound planning to avoid huge new taxes," said Speaker Victor A. Knox, Sault Ste. Marie.

Republican legislators point out that appropriations for the new fiscal year, start July 1, 1950, and that the legislature will return to Lansing in January, 1951, for the regular session. Legislators insist that no one is going to suffer and that appropriations are adequate to meet normal needs.

The will of the Republican legislators to put a halt to the even-higher trend of government spending was re-inforced May 18 when Auditor General Murl K. Aten compiled a 10-year table of comparative government spending in Michigan.

Education costs, for example, soared from $55.8 millions in 1939 to $169.7 millions in 1949; health, $7.7 to 12.5 millions; mental, $13.7 to $32.5 millions; welfare, $44.9 to $94.2 millions; highways, $54.3 to $108.9 millions. These figures include grants of federal and state aid. Today 78 percent of state sales tax revenues are now returned to local units—cities, counties, schools, townships.

President Truman and Governor Williams are confident that the people want more public benefits.

The Republicans are equally confident that the people do not want "state socialism". Every dollar of additional government spending must inevitably be paid by the consumer in the form of higher prices, they say.

And so 1950 poitical battle lines are being drawn.

The people must decide at the ballot box next November.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

U.S. Orders Expulsion of 22 Czech Officials; Observers Say Political Picture Becoming Foggy, Unreal

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

CZECHS:
U. S. Hits Back

The United States has ordered expulsion of 22 Czech officials from this country in retaliation of recent anti-American conduct by that country.

The U.S. note, which hinted at future diplomatic blows against the Kremlin - controlled government, charged Czechoslovakia "will not or cannot" conduct itself decently with other nations.

Diplomats considered the U. S. note strongly worded and saw the action as clear evidence of the disintegration of relations between the two countries. It reduced the number of Czech officials in this country from 33 to 22.

The state department note said in part:

"Since the United States cannot conduct normal diplomatic and consular functions in Czechoslovakia and since the relations between the two governments are being restricted in scope through the actions of the Czechoslovakia government, the latter has been requested within a reasonable time to close its consulates in Cleveland and Pittsburgh and to make a reduction in its official personnel in the United States similar to that demanded of the United States in Czechoslovakia."

The expulsion order means the Czech government will have 11 representatives in this country, all possibly in Washington. The order does not include that country's representation to the United Nations.

A-BOMBS:
Nearer to Europe

Millions who have had the jitters since the first atomic bomb was dropped on Japan received a new jolt when it was announced U. S. military officials are considering placing atomic weapons within easy reach of this country's European allies.

Such a move indicates that this country would use the atomic bomb in case of war and has no immediate plans of trying to get it outlawed, observers said.

Some congressmen called the idea terrible and predicted 98 per cent of the legislators would rebel if it should be presented to them. Observers agreed that initial congressional reaction to the idea indicates it will have tough sledding if it reaches Capitol Hill.

Military authorities were exploring the highly controversial proposal and possible safeguards against having the bombs fall into enemy hands.

Before atomic weapons could be made available to European members of the Atlantic pact, however, congress would have to amend the atomic energy act.

SANDERS:
Farms for Living

Dr. Hermann N. Sanders, deprived of his right to practice medicine in New Hampshire following his mercy slaying trial, has turned to tilling the soil for his neighbors to support his wife and three daughters.

Some observers, however, felt he would be reinstated when the state medical board let him apply on June 19.

Meanwhile, the doctor was supplying his own tractor for the farm work and moved about from job to job on a trailer attached to his automobile.

Neighbors said his rate of pay for plowing and cultivating farmlands of the area was $4 an hour.

NATIONALISTS:
Repulse Landing

The Communists tried a practice landing on Chushan island 100 miles southwest of Shanghai but were repulsed, the Chinese Nationalists report.

The announcement caused speculation that the invasion of Formosa itself, protected by 100 miles of open seas from the mainland, was about to begin.

Nationalists sources said they regard a Red "inside job" as great a threat as an actual invasion. A Communist fifth column on Formosa had been broken up, it was reported, but many of the Red agents remained at large.

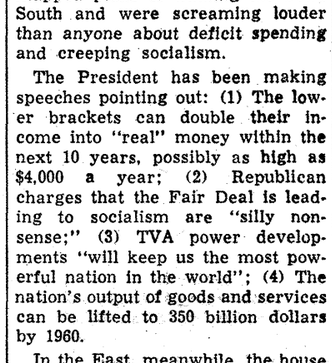

The Nationalists had nothing to say of their raid a few days earlier on villages on the mainland, 50 miles southwest of Chushan.

WHISKEY:
Big Business

The whiskey industry has long been big business, but now it comes to light that moonshiners apparently are producing more whiskey in the United States than the legal distilleries.

A spokesman for the industry said moonshine stills seized by state and federal officials in 1949 had a daily productive capacity of 97,709 gallons more than the nation's distilleries.

Truman Speaks

This is a part of the "10 acres of citizens" that turned out to hear President Truman on his "non-political" tour across the nation. He is pictured speaking from the rear platform of his special train.

POLITICS:
Foggy and Unreal

Observers are beginning to shout that the current political scene is becoming so foggy and unreal that the general public is confused. Perhaps it is the observers themselves who are confused.

Regardless of their shouts, however, President Truman concluded his tour across the nation making as many as 16 speeches a day while congress tied itself into knots on one issue after another. As if that wasn't enough, the Dixiecrats had mapped plans of winning the Solid South and were screaming louder than anyone about deficit spending and creeping socialism.

The President has been making speeches pointing out: (1) The lower brackets can double their income into "real" money within the next 10 years, possibly as high as $4,000 a year; (2) Republican charges that the Fair Deal is leading to socialism are "silly nonsense;" (3) TVA power developments "will keep us the most powerful nation in the world"; (4) The nation's output of goods and services can be lifted to 350 billion dollars by 1960.

In the East, meanwhile, the house cut the "one-package" appropriations bill by an estimated one billion dollars and sent the measure to the senate.

The vote, 362 to 21 was considered a big defeat for Truman. Democrats joined Republicans in making the cut.

In the South, publisher J. Oliver Emmerick told the third annual States' Rights convention that "our task is to sell the people against deficit spending, creeping socialism and the totalitarian state."

They seek to weld the south into the nation's most powerful minority, even so strong they could become the national balance of political power. And, from the looks of things, they may succeed in creating another congress very hostile to Truman.

GERMANY:
When A Treaty?

Germany may never get a peace treaty, some political observers have hinted. The hints were being made after America, Britain and France announced they will keep troops in Germany and refuse to write a peace treaty as long as Russian policy divides the country.

For that reason there may never be a treaty, observers report. Russia is not likely to change her policy because it would be a political defeat. The Soviet is only interested in victories.

The western powers said:

"In view of the continued refusal of the Soviet government to permit inhabitants of their zone of occupation to rejoin their fellow countrymen in a democratic and unified Germany, it has not been possible, and will not be as long as this Soviet policy persists, to proceed to conclusion of a treaty of peace with Germany.

"In the present situation of Europe supreme authority must remain in the hands of the Allied powers."

The three powers, however, have agreed to the gradual modification of many controls to which western Germany is still subject.

Shadows

Republicans may have talked down President Truman's "nonpolitical trip," but they kept an eye on him just the same.

The eye was Victor Johnson, executive secretary of the Republican senatorial campaign committee. He shadowed the President across the nation by chartered plane and showed up at all the chief executive's important speeches.

RUSSIA:
Wants Hot War

Most Americans, who cannot make themselves believe Russia is ready or wants a war, were being told otherwise by European diplomats.

In Europe the belief is growing that Russia now accepts a shooting war as the alternative to the cold war in winning world supremacy. Until recently experts believed European security could be viewed in terms of political activity and economic pressure.

A recent poll of European diplomats, however, reveals that they now believe the political bureau of the Russian Communist party soon will be willing to fight a hot war in pursuit of its aims.

One reliable source declares the Russians would be "ready" to fight in 1952. By then the Soviet Union will have a stockpile of atomic bombs and numerical superiority in ground and air forces.

The Russians are estimated to have 20,000 first-line planes in operation at the present time. That would indicate Russia may be able to fight a "hot war" on a moment's notice. It is generally accepted by observers that the atomic bomb is already in production behind the iron curtain.

BARUCH:
Stop Inflation

Since the war all classes of Americans—farmers, laborers, businessmen, office workers—have worried about inflation.

For all of them the dollar buys less than before the war. Of late, however, there has been little said or done about the inflation spiral.

Now Bernard M. Baruch, adviser to Presidents for 40 years, has taken another swing at inflation.

"Inflation is the cold war we Americans are waging against ourselves," the statesman warns.

"Inflation affects the integrity of all our defenses, both moral and military, national and international," he added. "This continuing spiral doesn't necessarily mean trouble at the moment, but it means trouble ahead if we don't put a stop to it. Sowewhere along the line, the balloon always bursts."

The national situation as he sees it finds the country balancing precariously between employment and the maintenance of a high standard of living, and unemployment and inflation.

We must work out a program to curb inflation that will be fair to everyone, he said. No one will like it, but we must do it and soon.

STATE DEPARTMENT:
McCarthy Lied

The state department had waded into the McCarthy spy hunt of the department's personnel by issuing a white paper that hints that the senator deliberately lied.

Assistant Secretary Edward W. Barrett sent 500 newspaper editors an eight-page analysis of McCarthy's speech which charged the department was overrun by Communists.

Barrett's reply contained a point-by-point denial. While it did not assert in so many words that McCarthy was lying, the document repeatedly sought to show that he uttered "misstatements" and "inaccuracies."

Meanwhile, the loyalty files, recently turned over to the senate foreign-relations subcommitte investigating communism in government posts, were being studied.

Senator Tydings, chairman of the committee, said he would make a full report to the people on the contents of the files.

Eighty-one cases were being investigated.

Parting?

The movie fans of the nation were startled with the rumors of "strained relations" between Bing Crosby and his wife, Dixie Lee. This 1939 photograph shows the Crosbys with their four sons. Bing is in Europe and will not return until mid-June.

GAMBLING:
13 Billion Take

The American Academy of Political and Social Science reports there are 50 million suckers in the United States who lose 13 billion dollars a year to gamblers.

The experts said Americans bet eight billion dollars a year with horse-race bookies. Pari - mutuel machines alone account for $1,600,000,000 a year and produce more than 100,000,000 annually in tax revenue.

PRE-SCHOOL AGE CHILDREN NEED YOUR ATTENTION

When all their playmates are in school, how do you provide preschool age Jimmy and Susy with something to do?

Now that authorities put so much importance on these early years of childhood, the problem causes more and more worry among parents, advises Shirley Newsom, Michigan State College nursery school staff member. For nursery school training is not available to many families.

Children of four or five need playmates near their own age. Sometimes parents attempt to satisfy them by sending them along to school with older brothers or sisters. Of course this isn't satisfactory even in one-room schools. City children may not even have a safe place to play. Rural children at least have the freedom of the fields and experiences with animals and chores that contribute to before-school learning.

Too often, reports Miss Newsom, an early over-emphasis on books and book learning interferes with later school progress. Movies, radio or television may fill in hours with resulting eye strain or questionable emotional stimulation. They are not satisfactory substitutes for active outdoor play with other children.

Parents may get some help from their local libraries whose picture books and story book hours are an old standby. Sunday School may offer a valuable chance to talk, work and play with other children once a week.

In some Michigan communities groups of parents are organizing cooperative nursery schools to provide supervised outdoor and indoor play. The present trend is for such groups to represent an attempt to meet a community need and to organize with an advisory board in order to have full community backing.
